

The Bridle Path Initiative
SUPPORT BEYOND THE GATE

The Katie Trust
WE LISTEN. WE CARE. WE ACT.

Take the reins of change.

So that the next warning is heard in time.
So that the next family is not left fighting alone.
So that no one is missed beyond the gate.

Before serious harm

The Bridle Path Initiative is the UK's first specialist domestic abuse and sexual violence service for rural, farming and equestrian communities: safe enquiries, professional training, research and partnership work, built by people who know these communities from the inside.

FOUNDED BY KIRSTY JUDD · BUCKINGHAMSHIRE

And after

The Katie Trust stands with families left with unanswered questions after a death: independent reviews of police investigations, family advocacy, and training so lessons are learned, not repeated. Free to every family, in Katie Simpson's name.

FOUNDED BY JAMES BRANNIGAN · NORTHERN IRELAND

If you are worried about someone

You do not have to be sure, and you do not have to be ready to act. Ask us what you are seeing at the gate and we will help you find the right route.

If a death was closed too soon

You are entitled to ask questions. One email or one call is enough to start, and it costs your family nothing.

If you want to be part of this

Book the learning, sign Katie's Pledge, sponsor a programme, or put the escalation map in front of your members.
